NOTES:

- The gross area and size of the rooms shown on plans are approximate and may vary. The area of each private portion is calculated to the outer side of exterior walls, the center of dividing walls, and the center of corridor walls. This calculation method differs from the one used in surveying and the cadastral plan, which is based on measurements taken from the interior divisions of private portions. Both calculation methods therefore show discrepancies in area. The net dimensions indicated on the cadastral plan are smaller than those shown on the architectural plans.
- The interior design of the unit is for illustration purposes only. Some minor changes may occur due to worksite conditions.
- The terraces and balconies size are approximate and may vary.
